DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the applicant's Preliminary Amendment filed on 10/07/2003.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

   I. Claims 1-4, 12-14, 16-19 drawn to products, a silicone-treated powder composition, classified in class 424, subclass 401.

   II. Claims 5 and 15, drawn to a resin-molded article, classified in class classified in class 424, subclass 422+.

   III. Claims 6-11, drawn to process for producing a silicone-treated powder, classified in class 424, subclass 489.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I, and II are unrelated to one another. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, the different inventions have distinct functions. Invention I is drawn to a silicone-treated powder whereas Invention II is dawn to a resin-molded article. As such, a reference anticipating one group of inventions would not necessarily render the other inventions obvious.

3. Inventions I and II and Invention III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, a silicone-treated powder composition can be produced by (1) stirring a silicone component with other components (such as fillers or preservatives) at room temperature, (2) dispersing the liquid mixture with high sheer equipment, (3) and heating the dispersion until a homogeneous dispersion is obtained.

4. Searching the inventions of Groups I – III together would impose a search burden on the examiner. In the instant case, the search of functionally distinct products as well as the method of producing said products would impose a search burden.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each subset of Groups I – III are not required for one another, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

9. In the event that applicant elects Group I, the following election of species is required. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: a cosmetic composition chosen from the following:

i. solid foundation, pressed powder, face powder, body powder.

ii. emulsion foundation

iii. UV blocking stick, water-in-oil type emulsion sunscreen

iv. lipstick

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 2 and 12 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

10. A telephone interview was conducted with applicant's attorney, Matthew Mulkeen, on 3/2/2005 during which time a request was made for a written restriction/election requirement.
